

PRIVATE WOLF WATCH

It's the call of the wild! Discover the important role wolves play in our ecosystem through an exciting, private excursion to an education, conservation, and research facility. Learn all about North American wildlife and wild lands, wolf biology, ecology, and behavior, and much, much more. Safely look on from the observation area as these amazing animals play, interact, and maybe even howl!

- Begin with a discussion with a staff educator who will share insights and answer questions
- Enjoy a short, scenic walk through the facility where you can spot plants and animals native to the San Diego mountains
- Observe two different packs of wolves and witness first hand how they live and play
- Take home a special membership with benefits that last for a year after purchase
