

WWII WARBIIRD

Take to the skies! Travel back in time on the plane that trained many an aviator during WWII, then became a fixture on the American barnstorming circuit. Climb into the open cockpit of an historic Warbird biplane and get a bird's eye view of Galveston as you soar through the sky. With an experienced pilot at the controls of the famed PT-17 Stearman, you'll experience the thrill of flight in this remarkable aircraft, the last military biplane ever built in the US.

- Meet your pilot at the airport for a short safety briefing and historical overview of how the aircraft was used during WWII and more
- Climb aboard a PT-17 Stearman aircraft and enjoy the thrill of the ride
- Finish with a tour of the Lone Star Flight Museum
